Keeping my contacts in the community of municipal cultural champions is important to me, as I continue my advocacy work on behalf of the artists in Canada. My ongoing membership in CCNC, even though I am retired, has been a valuable tool for this purpose, and is a great way to stay current and to stay in touch.

Creative City Network of Canada

Creative City Network of Canada (CCNC) is a national, non-profit organization made up of municipalities, organizations and individuals working to support cultural development in their communities. CCNC facilitates knowledge sharing and professional development in the field of local cultural planning, policy and research. CCNC is a growing network of over 180 members that directly serves Canadians through annual Summits, toolkits, the Creative City e-Newsletter, our website, and the List Serve.
